They talked as the head of one party to that of another.

President Is Silent.

The president has given evidence of his pleasure at the result of Tuesday's voting, but has not commented.

A democratic victory so tumultuous as to give them, roughly, four-fifths of the major electoral offices in the country, late today left the standing:

Senate: Democrats 69; republicans 25; farmer-laborite 1; progressive 1.

House: Democrats 321, republicans 103, farmer-laborite 3, progressive 1, undecided 1.

Governors: Democrats 38, republic

Out of a popular vote of 28,400,000, the democrats had 15,300,000. Eliminating the votes that went for the minor parties, the democrats had better than a 3,000,000 vote edge over the thing of the white House today as well as referendum on the state the White House today as weaphet of the work that we county and the state the white House today as weaphet of the work to the work that we county and the state the white House today as weaphet of the county and the state that we have to the work that we county and the state that we have to the work that we county and the state that we have to the work that we have the state that we have the work tha

Thirty of the 48 states gave the democrats virtually complete command of all major elective offices—senate, house and governorships. Eighteen states turned over all these offices to the democrats. In 12 others, the republicans managed to hold only one, or at the most two, of these offices against the New Deal buffetings. In several of these latter, there was small comfort for the republicans because the men who held the seats were as likely to vote with the democrats as to follow the G. O. P. elephant.

Final compilations of the virtually complete returns today showed that the republicans had managed to re-

The fate of Senator Cutting, republican independent, in New Mexico, in his sharply disputed battle with Dennis Chavez, the democrat, could have no effect on this lineap.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(F)—
The emphatic strokes with which the electorate nailed the new flag to the American mainmast on Tuesday echoed today in White House talks designed to hold into permanence some of the policies it represents.

The sold record of 13 hours 2 minutes was made February 19 last in a three-stop flight. The new mark of 12 hours 3 minutes 50 seconds was 3cited down at Newark airport at 8:45:50 p. m. eastern standard time, by Lieutenant Richard Aldworth, substituted to the request of the National Aeronautical Association. The ship, and entered to the high side who kissed him several times in her joy. "Yes, a grand flight," he repeated. "I had breakfast in California and now I'm all set for dinner in New York, How's that for commercial speed?"

The ship, under command of Rickenbacker with Si Morehouse and Captain Charles W. France, as pilots, carried three passengers. Roy W. Howard, newspaper publisher, and Honry McLemore and James L. Kilgallen, newspaper publisher, and Honry McLemore and James L. Kilgallen, newspaper speed was 231 miles an hour.

"At one noint over the Rockies we hit 17,000 feet." the happy skipper of the hig ship said. "Then we had to use the oxygen tanks, but just for a few minutes. Our top speed was 237 miles an hour.

Backed by this demonstration of popularity, President Roosevelt today went immediately to work shaping into lasting figures those portions of his plan which hitherto have been but rough designs. What he brings out of these will be displayed to the country in 1936.

In his first efforts, he turned to social legislation—his avowed attempt to make American, to see that no person shall starve. He talked with newly elected progressive Senator Lanewly elected progressive

Deep and wide gains had been made by the democrats in many places. They drove republicans from a senatorial and gubernatorial chair in the cherished republican citadel of Pennsylvania.

Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Maryland. Missouri were the states where the democrats counted the senate gains that will give them better than two names to lay down beside every one the republicans can muster for roll calls.

Unknown Polar Mountains Found By Wilkins Expedition in Antarctic

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 8.—(P)—
Sir Hubert Wilkins, at Magallanes, Chile, with his antarctic expedition, was quoted in the afternoon newspaper Ultimas Noticias today as saying he and his airplane pilot, Bernt

Balchen, had flown over certain south polar mountains hitherto unknown.

The newspaper said John Greenock, a member of the crew, revealed that at one time, during a food shortage, the sledge dogs ate each other.

Wilkins described the wreck of the

NEW FARM RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—The creation of a permanent farm credit system as powerful as the federal reserve and stripped of all private profit will be proposed to the next congress by Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the house agriculture committee as the key log of a farm legislative program.

The Texan disclosed the plan in its general outlines today, but said details remained to be worked out.

Essentially, the setup would be broad enough to afford permanent credit facilities to agriculture in all its operations—credit to be given at cost, plus a fractional charge to build up a reserve and protect against up a reserve and protect against

The system would be operated The system would be operated through the existing farm credit administration. It would be empowered to issue currency—farm credit notes similar to federal reserve notes—and thus to save the interest charges resulting in financing through bonds.

It would make use of existing facilities of intermediate credit banks, the production credit corporation, and land banks.

The money to start the farm reserve

The money to start the farm reserve system, Jones added, would come either by earmarking gold now held by the treasury or by direct appropriation of congress. He declined to estimate how much would be needed.

Great Britain Bans Arms Investigation

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(2)—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, made it clear today in the house of commons the British government will not permit an inquiry after the fashion of the recent United States senate committee's investigation into armaments.

Liberal speakers urged such an inquiry today but Sir John said methods used in the United States "would not commend themselves to British practice." Labor apparently abandoned recent demands for the inquiry.

Air Corps Supply Problems In Wartime Are Discussed

Aviation Policy Commis- tion, reported the progress of in-Executive Session.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Procurement problems of the army air corps in times of war were laid before the federal aviation commission today in testimony of the army general staff.

Continuing the executive hearings started the first of the week on war department air policy, the commission, headed by Clark Howell, publisher of The Atlanta Constitution, made public the following summary of testimony as prepared by Brigadier General Charles E. Kilbourne, assistant chief of staff, war plans division:

"At the hearing in executive session before the federal aviation commission on the morning of November 8, Major General Robert E. Callan. assistant chief of staff, G-4, explained the problems of supply in peace and

The Atlanta Constitution, made public the following summary of pestimony as prepared by Brigadier General Charles E. Kilbourne, assistant chief of staff, war plans division session on the morning of November S. Major General Robert E. Callan, assistant chief of staff, G.4, explained the problems of supply in peace and war and the supervision necessary if the delays of the last war due to lack of a balanced procurement program and a co-ordinated system of storage and issue are to be avoided in our next war. He explained the impossibility of entrusting to individual agencies decisions in these matters and the eccessions in these matters and the eccessions in these matters and the eccessions of determination of requirements and of standardization of equipment were set forth. It was made plain to the commission that though the general staff had at times to exercise restrictive control, this was not limited to the air corps, but extended to all arms and services in order that each abould have at least the funds necessary for essential operations; and that sinch the entire case, received especial consideration. The relations of the general staff prepared the military program (i. e., what is needed and when), the assistant secretary of war co-ordinating and directing the procurement by the several supply services and the general staff the taking charge of the distribution. "He was followed by Brigadier General H. C. Pratt, air corps, reported to the commission, having flows from March field, California. He is commander of a bombardment wing and the leader of the commission that foreign nations were ahead of the United States in types of military aircraft were refuted. "Colonel H. H. air force for the development of strategic and tactical doctrines was especially interesting.

"The testimony of Major H. J. Knarr, air corps, was largely along the lines of the supply problem. These he was especially well qualified to speak on, due to his experience during the recent carrying of air mail. He explained the shortage of instruments and stressed the importance of training in flying the airways. He believed, however, that the air corps supply system, combined with certain facilities at air corps sations, would be better than practice on civilian airways, since it would enable the personnel to utilize army equipment especially designed for field service, rather than that applicable only to permanent installations.

Japanese Delegates Decide Not To Accept British Proposals.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Japan tonight stood as pat as ever on her demand for equality on the high seas. demand for equality on the high seas.

Japanese delegates here for tripower naval conversations have decided tentatively not to accept informal British proposals intended to break the existing deadlock, even though these proposals went far toward embodying Tokyo's scheme for new methods of limiting navies, it was learned authoritatively.

A formal reply may be delayed until next week, however, and it was indicated the refusal would be so couched as to let the conversations continue.

continue.

The British proposals, presented when the two delegations met yesterday, were briefly as follows:

1. The principle of Japan's right to equality would be recognized, but Nippon would promise not to exercise that right

Nippon would promise not to exercise that right.

2—Japan's plan for limiting navies on the total tonnage basis would be adotped, but limitation by categories and by number of ships, as in the Washington and London treaties, would continue.

3—The Japanese demand for reducing or abolishing offensive ships would be toned down.

(Tokyo dispatches today quoted mayal spokesmen as saying Japan "cannot accept any naval formula which, theoretically allotting parity, actually asks Japan to accept inferierity.")

TALMADGE RENEWS ATTACK ON NEW DEAL

NRA Defies Every Principle of Anti-Trust Law, Says Governor.

Renewing his attack on the nationd recovery administration, Governor Talmadge Thursday said the NRA "de-lies every principle" of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The chief executive made his comment in a published statement (in his newspaper, The Statesman) and said the "NRA not only fixed the price of materials but went so far as to

"The NRA went further than this—they said that people could work only a certain length of time, whether they wanted to or not."

The governor said the provisions of the NRA "did not properly recognize taining and skill on a job. It pushed in the unskilled, and the untrained, the receive just as much as the ones

The governor declared that "the guicker the NRA is abolished in this country, the better off the people will be—the better off business will be—the better off business will be and the better off the government. be, and the better off the government will be."

He declared that in Georgia "and

He declared that in Georgia "and all over the nation, we have spent millions of dollars in experiment stations and agricultural colleges, training our people to produce more. Even mow, this idea is abandoned, and laws have been passed, stopping us from producing food and clothing."

He said the Bankhead act had cut the cotton income of the country from $633,000,000 last year to $602,000,000 this year and "yet the NRA has advanced the cost of living, and we have less money in Georgia for our major money crop on which to live."

He said the relief rolls in Georgia have grown in the past year "to the staggering number of 412,977 to date."

SAENZ WILL REFUSE TO RETURN TO CUBA *FOR HEALTH'S SAKE'

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(A)—Dr. Joaquin Martinez Saenz, president of the ABC, powerful Cuban secret society, said tonight he would refuse the invitation of the Cuban government to return to the island republic for my health's sake."

The Mendieta government cabled Martinez Saenz asking him to return to "insure an honest and impartial election."

to "insure an honest and impartial mection."

"Just as I get the government's eable," the Cuban leader said, "I learn that the same government which invited me to Cuba has begun to extend the persecution beyond Cuba and that Sts persecution beyond Cuba and that two men were beheaded by govern-ment officers on a key off Cardenas." Martinez Saenz referred to a dis-patch from Havana yesterday that a small naval launch went to a lonely key off the city of Cardenas and found there an arms cache as well as the bodies of two headless men in the underbrush near by.

LIBERTY LEAGUE PLANS TO EXPAND PROGRAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.-(P)-The merican Liberty League-founded American Liberty League—founded with the avowed intention to protect the constitution and safeguard property rights—is expanding its activities by the addition to its executive comerty rights—is expanding its activities by the addition to its executive committee of men prominent in the nation's affairs, it was learned authoritatively tonight.

To the committee of five—Alfred E. Smith and John W. Davis, former democratic presidential nominees, former Governor Nathan L. Miller, Representative James W. Wadsworth and Irence du Pont—the league was reliably reported to have added the following members:

Sewell L. Avery, of Chicago, president of Montgomery Ward; Henry B. Rust. Pittsburgh industrialist; Colby Chester, president of General Foods Corporation: H. B. Earhart, of Detroit, director of the Vaccuum Oil Company; J. Howard Pew, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Henry B. Joy, of Detroit, and John J. Raskoh.

Ultimately the league is expected to increase the membership of its executive committee to 25. This is in line with its program of expansion which calls for formation of a branch in every state in the Union.

WAYCROSS BODY SEEKS TO ADVERTISE STATE

WAYCROSS, Ga., Nov. 8.—Carrying out a unanimous vote of the city commission of Waycross, the city manager, Walter E. Lee, has written Governor Eugene Talmadge urging him to start at once a movement to advertise Georgia and its resources.

The commissioners point out that Georgia ought to keep pace with other states in letting its advantages be known and that a consistent advertising campaign is certain to produce minable results.

Robson Held Incommunicado; Other Arrests Expected in Kidnap Probe.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 8.—(P)—
The department of justice tightened its grip today upon Oscar H. Robson, suspect in the June Robles kidnaping mystery, by raising his bond from $50,000 to $100,000 and pressed its resolute quest for others believed to have had a hand in the crime.

How close the federal operatives might be to the trail of other quarry was not disclosed, but there was a mysterious request "from the government" for a delay in Robson's arraignment on charges of sending a Robson's arraignment was set for November 22 after government authorities requested the delay.

Robson's bond was suddenly raised by United States Commissioner Daniel Hurley after Robson's wife vowed she would obtain money for his release "even if it takes $100,000."

Although Robson, a Tuscon night club operator and acquaintance of the Robles family, was arrested in the federal building here yesterday after having been in the company of federal officers, Mrs. Robson charged the operatives had gone away from Tucson with him Saturday night and had broken a promise to allow him to return home. She argued vehemently he was not the kidnaper.

ICKES DENIES CHARGES PWA 'POLITICAL BALL

Secretary Says Hundreds of Allotments Rescinded in Weeks Preceding Election.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Asserting that the purpose of PWA always has been to win recovery, not votes, Secretary Ickes tonight assailed "Fantastic charges unsupported by even a scintilla of evidence that PWA was playing politics" in the political campaign just ended. Fewer and fewer projects were approved as the campaign advanced and not one after October 17, the secretary said. One the contrary, hundreds of allotments were rescinded in the weeks preceding the election. Having refused to talk it out with

From the day it became law, the prohibition amendment was a troublesome bone of contention for the federal government, and remained so until the people of the country overwhelmingly voted its repeal.

News Behind the News By Paul Mallon

LAMENT WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 .- There was many a groan emitted in private by the wisest and highest New Dealers when they read the election returns. They knew it was too

You may not believe it, but the topmost men are even now discussing the advisability of encouraging anti-New Deal blocs in their own democratic congressinal ranks. They know they must keep the brakes on their New Deal somewhere.

One doleful official, who joined in this sentiment off the record the day after election, said: 'I wouldn't be Roosevelt during the next two years for all the gold Morgenthau is sitting on. This is supposed to be a govern-ment of checks and balances. The election removed the conservative congressional check and balance. It puts everything on Roosevelt. e makes any mistakes, if he gets any bad advice!

"If I were Roosevelt, I would go out today and hire the most disagreeable intelligent person I could find. I would keep him at right hand all the time to abuse me and my policies and thus help me to keep a proper sense of balance, as Richelieu did."

MISGIVINGS You could notice some hint of this feeling, in the tone of Postmaster-General Farley's election night. Broadcast after the returns were in. There was no elation in his attitude. He was rather grave and referred to the responsibility. When Sunny Jim gets grave over winning an election, it is bigger news than a man biting a dog.

The truth is Farley made a trip around the country before the election and discovered that the administration was going to have a lot of ex-pugilists and second-hand clothing merchants on its hands in this congress. While those are honorable professions, Postmaster-General Farley knows they do not afford very good training for legislative careers. Also, he realizes what the public does not, namely, that such democratic senators as Copeland, of New York; Walsh, of Massa-chusetts; Donahey, of Ohio; Truman, of Missouri, and even perhaps Moore, of New Jersey, and others are not, strictly speaking, Roosevelt men. They may prove to be hard to work with. But far more important is the deep realization that there are now no more political worlds for the New Deal to conquer, unless the two-party system is going to be abolished entirely. MOTIVES Most non-partisan political authorities here will agree that the Santa Claus angle of relief expenditures may have had a lot to do with the result, but the proportions of the sweep disclosed something far deeper. It showed continued weariness, poverty and dissatisfaction among the people. The average democratic voter, of course, may not have known anything about the economics or the detailed successes or mistakes in the NRA, PWA, AAA and other New Deal agencies. It is quite likely that many made up their minds largely on the idea that here was a man, who, at least, was trying hard to do something about their economic condition, and that, the thing for them to do was to give him a hand.

REPUBLICANS The republicans are gossiping already about reorganization plans. They have no idea of doing anything immediately and there is no general agreement on what should be done. However, the talk indicates that more and more of them are coming around to the view that they need someone of the Borah complexion as national chairman.

The passing of Reed and Walcott is lamented because they were very capable men, but the result was a rather strong hint that, if the republicans want to make any popular appeal, they must do it with capable liberals rather than conservatives.

The La Follettes and Hiram Johnson are not going to make any effort to liberalize the republican party. They are too close to the

The Borahs, McNarys and Vandenbergs will try it, but they will have to contend with the Snells and Wadsworths, who comprise the last remaining vestiges of republican conservatism in congress. What the republicans need is another Abraham Lincoln, a modern railsplitter, but there does not appear to be any in sight.

NEW PARTY? There is a lot of talk about new parties, but it is mostly tea-table chatter. The situation may get around to the point where all the liberals will be in one party and all the conservatives in another, but the current inside drift is certainly not in that direction. At present, a majority of the people appears to be more radical than the New Deal, and there no place where a conservative can hang his hat. Practical politicians know that they have neither the popular issues nor the nucleus around which a new party movement could be built,

NOTES Upton Sinclair is always doing something new. Before the returns were in, he prepared a statement, to be published after he was defeated, and sent it around, captioned: "To

Mr. Heydler is a born and incurable statistician, who, many years ago, began the queer American mania for reducing all manner of performance to comparative statistics in four decimal figures for the quick and final settlement of barber-shop disputes.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

hate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM ROID, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM. ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacobs Drug Stores say "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM.ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money back."—(adv.)

Everyone was happy. Rickenbacker was grinning.

"Look at the difference between this flight and the old one in February." he said. Then he made comparisons. The average speed of the February flight was 201 miles an hour. Here was a 36-mile increase. There was another difference, of course. The other ship had made stops at Albuquerque, N. M.; Kansas City and Columbus. Ohio. In this flight there was only one halt.

The transcontinental speed record for speed planes is 10 hours 2 minutes. and is held by Colonel Roscoe Turner, one of the money winners in the recent London-to-Melbourne air derby.

S. C. Dobbs Sr. Observes Sixty-Sixth Birthday

Sixty-Sixth Birthday
Samuel Candler Dobbs Sr., one of Atlanta's leading businessmen

sixty-sixth birthday anniversary
Thursday.
Congratulations were pouring in from prominent Atlantans, but Mr.
Dobbs was not in town to receive them. He was called away on a business trip and most of his birthday was spent on a train. Mr.
Dobbs is president of the Dobbs

Resolution Adopted.

At the meeting of DeKalb citizens and taxpayers of DeKalb county, in consideration of the government offer to furnish the labor for an airport to be located on the old Camp Gordon property in this county, said tract being the only tract approved by all of the necessary agencies of the government, and in live of the great advantage such a project will bring to this county and vicinity, do hereby go on record as heartily indorsing said project and request the county commissioner of this country, C. A. Matthews, to enter into such contracts as the government may require to enter into such contract or con-tracts as the government may require to the end of furnishing of equip-ment and materials called for by the government through its agency, the FERA."

Signing the resolution were John K. Ottley, president of the First National bank of Atlanta; H. Y. McCord, president of the McCord-Stewart Company; Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College; C. H. Blount, cashier of the Decatur branch of the First National bank; branch of the First National bank; George Everitt, prominent Decatur merchant; J. C. He charged Herriot's party was unwilling to face "the sovereign people" in new elections, and said the "men responsible for the policy which led to the February riots and the deaths of the war veterans . . . do not wish at any price to answer before a long time has rolled past."

The chamber committee investigating the riots was quick, however, to refute Doumergue's charge, asserting facts disclosed proved the radical socialists were not to blame and declaring no veterans were killed.

While most political leaders expressed greatest anxiety over Doumergue's departure, members of parliament said privately he had not entirely succeeded.

Pierce was captured in Big Springs by Sheriff Jess Slaughter on information furnished by the department of justice, and he readily admitted his identity. The governor of Texas has been petitioned for extradition of Pierce and it was indicated that the prisoner will not fight the action.
Dodge was the proprietor of the place formerly known as Hollywood Villa, a tourist camp, and was shot to-death before the eyes of his bride by two men who robbed him as he prepared to close his office on the night of February 27. Dodge, though wounded, got out his own pistol and shot at the bandits.
Several days later Pierce was found seriously wounded in a house several

Urges Referendum

The churchmen said that Georgia's prohibition law, passed in 1907, had greatly reduced drinking and that an "alarming increase of drinking and drunkeness" had been reported since many Georgia cities had licensed the sale of beer.

The belief was expressed that prohibition "is the best plan for attacking the liquor evil."

AB TOLBERT IS HELD IN STATHAM KILLING

WINDER, Ga., Nov. 8 .- No date for a preliminary hearing has been set in the case of Ab Tolbert, held in the Barrow county jail following the slaying Tuesday night at Statham of Joe S. Holliday, contractor and ware-legislators as well as mayors of the section. A luncheon was held at the country club and a golf tournament for the mayors staged. W. E. Beverly, of Thomasville, presided over the meeting.

The Atlanta mayor commented on the sweeping democratic victories in Tuesday's election, calling the triumph "phenomenal." He discussed the question of legalizing beer and liquor and the resulant taxes, and said that liquor should be made to "carry its own load."

Joe S. Holliday, contractor and warehouseman. Holliday was shot by Tolbert during an argument, said to have been about Tolbert's daughter, that took place in a drug store at Statham. Holliday lived about two hours after the shooting. Tolbert immediately surrendered to Sheriff J. T. Williams. Superior court will be held here in C. January and it is presumed that if no preliminary hearing is called before then, the case will be considered at that time.

The advantages are so many I could talk on indefinitely about them, but if you are a thinking woman who will listen to advice on cold cream you probably know all of them already.

Cold cream has come to be a house-hold necessity. I know of very few women who do not some time use cold cream. The day will come when they will use it, even if they have to go without lunch now and then. I honestly believe that the wise use of good cosmetics is what is responsible for the women of today being ageless humans who look young from the cradle to the grave.

1—One heart would probably be a better bid on this hand. However, the East player anticipated a diamond response and expected to be able to show his heart suit at the level of one-odd. He felt that his hand was a shade weak to bid one heart and then respond to the anticipated two-diamond response with two notrump.

bid one heart and then respond to the anticipated two-diamond response with two notrump.

A very doubtful vulnerable overcall, even at the level of one. However, South's bid, although risky, was justified in view of the partscore situation.

West's double is very bad. Admittedly West has good diamonds in back of the diamond bid, but the fact that the West hand contains six cards of the partner's suit makes the double a very bad one indeed. West should have known for a certainty that the North player must have a rescue of one diamond doubled in one of known for a certainty that the North player must have a rescue of one diamond doubled in one of the majors, and accordingly the double would do no good except possibly to warn the opponents of the distribution.

Here is the soundest rescue I have ever seen. North is practically sure of four hearts in his own hand, aren with a continually passing the distribution of the distribution.

North's decision to bid only one heart is very good for strategic reasons. With his freakish distribution the North player knows the bidding probably will not die at one heart, and that he may get a swing in his favor by starting off slowly.

—A slight overbid with an aceless hand. However, West feels that with his partner's opening club bid there should be some chance for a slam in clubs and at the worst a game. worst a game.

-North became panicky at this point. In my opinion North should have passed the two hearts to await developments.

East's double is quite natural. He does not know that his partner's hand is a freak, and feels certain of taking at least three tricks by himself.

-It would be worth something to have seen South's face at this point. South naturally did not know that his partner had a tremendous freak, for his partner had made only a simple rescue of one heart on the first round. However. there was nothing South could do but pass.

West died as he had lived. He had started off the hand with a bad bid and now decided to keep up the good work. As a matter of fact, West by his previous bids had trapped himself and knew that if he now bid five clubs his partner would not possibly bid six, even with a fairly strong hand. even with a fairly strong hand, since the clubs had not been supported previously. West, therefore, decided upon the most unwise gamble of bidding six clubs himself. South from the bidding decided that his partner must have some strength in spades and opened the spade six instead of the singleton heart. The defense according was able to take three tricks and the contract was three tricks and the contract was down two.

Incidentally, South, in going over the hand afterwards, was thunderstruck to find out that the contract of four hearts doubled could have been fulfilled merely by the correct spade guess. With a club opening lead spades could be finessed immediately and with a diamond opening, even though North would have to lead spades out of his own hand, he could do this with the loss of but one spade trick if he followed the play of the ace with the play of a small card.

THIS CHANGE Helps Children

Intestinal irritation in many growing girls and boys can be traced to one mistake.

Are you making this mistake with your children? The "liquid test" will tell.

"What is this "liquid test" they talk about?" ask mothers. Just this: a simple way of finding out if any boy or girl with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or is getting the Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been convalescing in a hospital will often come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

The Proper Treatment Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for enildren's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until the bowels been to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

How to Begin

Stop all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tab-lets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic strong enough for adults.

It is not wise to give laxatives of adult strength to a child, just beause you give them less frequently or in less amounts. So, get a bottle of California Syrup of Figs from your druggist, and start tonight, if your child is constipated, giving a good, cleans-ing dose. Repeat if necessary, giv-ing a little less each time. That's the secret of this treatment — gradually reduced dosage.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer and more satisfactory, result more satisfactory result, too.

THE "LIQUID TEST"

This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipa-tion in a child of any age:

First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any belo at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California' blown in the bottle.

After "breakfast" he lit a cigaret, leunged back in his corner, and looked at her.

"You are," he remarked, "quite the loveliest thing in the world to look at. No, wait please! There's a sting in the tail. I was going on to say that, even so, you would look just a little bit funny in a store in Manchester at 9 o'clock in the morning in a dinner frock and cloak. And these very silky stockings. And slippers pinched from a fairy. So funny," he added, "that people might remember if any kind of dust is raised when they miss you."

For a moment her gay irresponsibility was dashed. They certainly would "raise a dust" when she was missed. "You'll have to buy the things for me," she told him, then laughed at his confusion. "I'll let you off lightly, to colin. A raincoat. A tweed hat. And a pair of walking shoes, You could buy those without blushing, couldn't you? In those I could walk about quite inconspicuously and buy anything else I want. I shall only need a tweed skirt and a blouse or two. My trousseau," she added, and for a moment her eyes filled with tears.

Shortly after 9 he was making the purchases in a department store in Manchester. He had prepared an elaborate and convincing tale about his wife, but the assistants were uninterested and he didn't bother to finish it.

trying to escape from a man of giant size who was wading into the water after them! They made good their escape, but poor Gulliver was left on the island.

After returning to England, Guinver set forth upon another voyage.
This time he went ashore of a great island "between Japan and California," to learn what kind of place it was.

Gulliver feared to fall into the hands of a giant, and ran away from the shore until he caught sight of eight more giants in a cornfield. The corn was about 40 feet high, but the giants were far taller than that, "as tall as church steeples."

One giant almost stepped on Gulliver, and the unhappy man cried out in alarm. The giant picked him up in his hand, and held him "above 60 feet from the ground."

The giants were amazed to find a little fellow who could talk. They did not understand what he said, but they knew he was speaking words of some kind.

Gulliver was placed under care of a farmer's daughter, a nine-year-old girl, who was "above 40 feet high, being little for her age." The girl trated him very kindly.

To make money for himself, the farmer took Gulliver to cities so that people might pay to look at him. At length he was sold to the queen for a sum equal to about $5,000. He was a delight to the people of the royal court; but the queen's dwarf, who was only 30 feet high and the smallest adult ever known before, did not like him. One day the dwarf let Gulliver drop in a bowl of cream, and he would have drowned if he had not be place where the landing had been made. When he returned, he found that the sailors were rowing away.

NATIONAL HEAD

Owners Promote Service Bureau Man to Presidency.

By Edward J. Neil.

NEW YORK. Nov. 8.—(P)—A young newspaperman from the farm lands of Indiana. Ford Christopher Frick. was named today the ninth president of the National league, successor to John Arnold Heydler, and the most youthful man ever to attain the post.

In complete unanimity, the owners of the eight clubs in baseball's senior circuit elevated the 39-year-old head of the league's service bureau to the presidency, honored Heydler by creation of a new office for him for life as "chairman of the board," and appointed Hawvey Traband secretary and treasurer. and treasurer.

It took the magnates just 1 1-2 hours of peaceful session to agree unanimously with forecasters who pre-unanimously with forecasters who predicted such a slate immediately after Heydler announced unexpectedly last Friday that ill health was forcing him to relinquish the presidency after 17 years. At Frick's request his term was set at one year.

The new president, who will be 40 in December, is the second youngest major league head in baseball history. Only Ban Johnson, who organized and became president of the American league in 1901, was younger at the time he took office, at 36.

FARM BOY.

American league in 1901, was younger at the time he took office, at 36.

FARM BOY.

Born on a farm in Indiana, several miles from Kendaliville, Frick was graduated in 1915 from De Pauw University, where his 17-yeariold son, Frederick, is now a freshiong at Colorado College. In 1916 he began writing sports on the Colorado Springs Gazette, took over rehabilitation work for the army in Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming and Colorado in 1918, and returned tosports writing on the Colorado Springs Telegraph in 1919.

Frick joined the staff of the New York American in 1922, moved over to the sports pages of the New York Journal in 1923, and wrote baseball, as well as other sports, until he was appointed head of the National League Service Bureau last February. He is well known as a radio sports commentator, but he has agreed to retire from the air as soon as his present contracts expire about New

Traband, who as secretary and treasurer takes over half the combined posts Heydler held, has been secre-tary to the retiring president for nine years. Previous to that he was ex-ecutive secretary of the American Automobile Association contest board for 12 years. He is 48.

In announcing their decision, the league magnates—Emil Fuchs, of league magnates—Emil Fuchs, of Boston; Steve McKeever, of Brook-lyn; Powel Crosley, of Cincinnati; Charles Nugent, of Philadelphia; William Benswanger, of Pittsburgh, and John O. Seys, of Chicgo—said no other candidates had been con-aidered, and that the decision was GOOD WORKERS.

"It was the feeling of the owners that the National lengue affairs could best be conducted by men who had been in the organization," the formal statement said. "Both Mr. Traband and Mr. Frick have been working under Mr. Haydler's supervision and der Mr. Heydler's supervision, and the league feels that with that train-ing they would be better able to con-duct the affairs of the office than would men elected from outside."

Frick will continue to head the service bureau, he said, while no announcement was made as to salaries, it was believed Frick was raised from the $12,000 he received as bureau head to about $20,000, while Traband will receive about $12,000 as secretary and treasurer.

It Was a Pleasant Relief To See The Louisiana Crowd

Having looked the grisly specter of defeat in the eye so often this fall, it was a novelty to associate with the Baton Rouges yesterday afternoon as Biff Jones and his L. S. U. Tigers worked out in our city.

They were happy, cheerful; smiles appeared on their faces. The coaches were talking exuberantly and doing only a modicum of worrying. You see, the Baton Rouges are undefeated this season and have been tied only by the two very tough Texas teams, S. M. U. and Rice. What is more, they haven't been defeated by a southern eleven in three years.

We Atlantans stood around and enjoyed it. It was a bit pathetic, the vacarious thrill we obtained by merely associating with victory. The drooped shoulders of the football re-porters straightened. They began to wonder if maybe they hadn't neglected visiting the barber or getting their suits pressed often enough. Defeat does things to one.

The attitude of the players was significant. They laughed as they worked. It was still a game to them. The coaches were good-humored, and not nerve-raw

There were no injuries on the squad. They were all set and already talking about next year's game with Georgia over Biff Jones expects a good game. But try as he will, he can't really worry. Victory is a magnificent thing with which to be associated. But too much of it is as bad as too much de-

Mr. T. P. (Red) Herd, the athletic director, was telling about the Tulane-L. S. U. game which is scheduled for Baton Twenty thousand seats at $3 per copy have already been sold and 10,500 more seats at $2 per copy are going faster than the boys can dish them out. Which will run the gate over $80,000.

"We've got a large press box but if you are coming down, ire early," said Red Herd. "We are going to be jammed."

I would like to use this little story of the L. S. U. success as an illustration for schedule makers.

Don't try to make a "money" schedule.

Get a winning team—and the money will come in at the gate. Winning teams make money. Not schedules.

And the money, of course, goes to pay for huge stadia; L. S. U. is paying for one. It goes for salaries. And it goes for baseball, basketball, track, tennis, golf, and all the intramural sports of softball, volleyball, boxing, wrestling, fencing, gym teams, handball, to build gymnasiums and equip them.

So often people ask me—"What do the colleges do with all the money they take in at football?"

Get an estimate on equipping more than a thousand boys, the cost of a gym or a stadium. The interest on the stadium bonds at Pittsburgh, for instance, is close to $80,000 annually. Just the interest. Down south it is lower. But that gives you the idea—maybe.

THE "INSIDE" ON HUEY AT L. S. U.

Huey Long, the L. S. U. people told me, simply has a great jury.

"He is the No. 1 football fan in America," said Biff

Huey, of course, is responsible for some of the money which L. S. U. is drawing. But he attends the games for the game itself—not to show himself.

He never has gone in and made a speech to the L. S. U. team. He sits on the bench with the doctor and trainer and asks some questions. He cheers and he yells and he may dash up and down the sidelines a bit.

But that's all. He doesn't interfere with the coaches.

The trip to Nashville, when Huey Long loaned money to several thousands students to pay their way to Nashville, was a great stunt and made Huey more popular than ever. And the expects to get most of the money back. he expects to get most of the money back.

He plans to take about 1,000 students to Knoxville when L. S. U. plays Tennessee. Huey is just a football fan. Plus the smartest politician in the south.

"There may be smarter men than me," Huey is reported to have said, "but none of them living in Louisiana." And I think he's right.

Your team has the ball. They are trailing by seven points, and the other team has the ball at its own one-yard line. There are four and a half minutes to play. The field is ankle deep

Again your team is playing. It is seven points behind. There are five minutes left, and against a stout defense you must go 80 yards for a touchdown and then kick the point.

What odds would you lay on a score in either of those fields?

L. S. U. ran into the first one in the Rice game. Rice took an intentional safety. Reed took the free kick and ran it back and Lions: Bulls and Panthers; Tigers and Bears bowling in the men's to the Rice 30. From there L. S. U. scored and kicked the point to tie the Owls at 9 and 9, they having scored a touchdown and kicked a field goal.

In the second, L. S. U. completed a pass for the touchdown and converted the point to add to seven points already scored and tie S. M. U. at 14 and 14. Those two comebacks must rank as two of the finest of the

"WASH" RANDALL.

On the L. S. U. bench was Wash Randall, 270 pounds of colored man standing six feet five inches tall. He looked, with his cap on, like the old pictures of "Tham" Langford, one of the greater heavyweights.

Wash has been at L. S. U. for 27 years-this is his twenty-eighth season with the football teams of that institution. He's seen a lot of coaches and players come and go, has Wash Randall.

What makes the present coaching set-up the best one of all for Wash Randall is that Biff Jones is the first coach to come along with feet as large as the feet of Wash Randall.

AT WASHINGTON

VeteranOglethorpeSquad Takes Workout at Capital This Afternoon.

By Jack Troy.

EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON WITH OGLETHORPE, Nov. 8.—It already is apparent that this Oglethorpe football team, which stands a chance of winning its sixth victory of the season Saturday against Catholic University in Washington, did not come along on the trip just for the ride.

It would add a lot to say that some of the boys had never been on a train before and that they are leaving the native heath for the first time, but for the sake of truth and accuracy let it be known that most of these boys have been around. And particularly is that true when intersectional games are considered.

There are several boys along who have seen action against Manhattan in New York and Duquesne in Pittsburgh, and all that sort of thing. So there is no question of a new blanket shedding its wool or anything like that.

JUST HOPING.

You've heard the song, "I never Slept a Wink Last Night." Well, sir, thin is no exaggeration. Coach Patrick has not known the embrace of Morpheus' arms the night before a single game this season! It's easy to explain. But why explain? Put yourself in his place. You have played football for a school and two years later you are made head coach. Suppose we just skip it. SLEEPLESS COACH.

The click-click-click of spinning wheels on rails begins to get you. It's sort of lullaby. But sleep is far away. Coach Patrick is worrying Marist College defeated Commercial High, 6 to 0, Friday night at Ponce de Leon park and threw the North Georgia Interscholastic conference ti-tle race into a triple tie with Com-mercial, Marist and Russell sharing top place.

The defeat eliminated Commercial from the undefeated ranks and leaves only Tech High and Boys' High un-defeated in Atlanta's prep football circles.

Three Commercial fumbles paved the way for Marist's victory and eliminated the Typists' only chance to tie the score or win the game. Marist recovered all three fembles and made excellent use of the mistakes to win the ball game, even though the Typists made more first downs than the Cadets.

Early in the first period after making three first downs in succession, Commercial fumbled and Marist re-covered. The Cadets made two first downs, punted and recovered another downs, punted and recovered another Commercial fumble on the Typists 20-yard line. It was there that the touchdown drive started, after Marist had been penalized 15 yards. A long pass from Vandiver to Slater and Anderson's buck through the line accounted for the score.

Late in the second period, Commercial drove to Marist's 4-yard line, but fumbled. Marist recovered and punted out of danger.

THE NATIONAL PASTIME.

Mere player, crashing through some line. Or blocking back who feels the thud someone dances on your spine, While sprawling in the muck and mud-You still may say the game is rough As battered features slide and skid, But if you think your part is tough, Just try to pick the winners, kid!

From Oregon to Maine and back, Ten million minds are under stress, Ten million pencils bend and crack Beneath the burden of the guess-Tulane or Colgate—Georgia—Yale— Will Syracuse put in her bid? Hey-player-if you're growing stale, Just try to pick the winners, kid!

THE ROUNDUP.

COLGATE-TULANE—What should be one of the fastest, most adept ball-handling games of the year, filled with speed and action. Andy (Hocus-Pocus) Kerr not only has the fundamentals working for Colgate, but all the magician's magic on the side. Tulane has a strong line and two fine backs in Simon and Bryan. Tulane's attack has been good her defense a bit spotty. This time I'll string with Colgate in one of football's dizziest afternoons.

Yale-Georgia—For a matter of four years I've picked Georgia to beat Yale, and the delegation from the red clay hills has come bounding through. It may sound like the height of ingratitude to switch, but, this time, the vital elements favor Yale. Both are good teams, but neither is among the elect. It would be no upset if Georgia won—but Yale ought to slip by with better ends and a better passing game.

Rice-Arkansas—A good scrap, but that Rice backfield, with four track

Stanford-Washington — The inter-lude that should decide the Rose Bowl nomination on the west coast. Both are unbeaten—Washington is still untied. Washington is strong, but Stanford has one of the top teams of the year, with a strong line, two fine ends and a brilliant backfield headed by Grayson. Stanford draws the pick.

Ohio State-Chicago-Another slam bang afternoon, during which Ohio State's main problem will be to stop the all-around Berwanger. One of the hard games to pick, but Ohio State's greater manpower must get the call.

Syracuse-Michigan State—Here are two unbeaten, untied teams where one must take the count. Syracuse is good, one of the best teams in the east, but Michigan State has shown more stuff to date. The pick is Michigan State.

with Barabas still mising. Navy-Notre Dame—This is one of those nightmare selections. Navy has more speed and greater smoothness. Notre Dame has more manpower. Navy has the more versatile attack. Navy gets the call.

L. S. U.-George Washington—Louisiana State has too much with Abe Kickal running amuck. Other nominations: Centenary to be the Tukes—Love State to check Oksil.

Army-Harvard—There should be no passionate debate about this. Harvard has a good, young, green, inexperienced team—on its way. The Army, with Buckler and Stancook, among others, already is there. Army should win.

Fordham-West Virginia—That honey-scented taste of a Tennessee victory should help Fordham a lot. Fordham is the choice.

Other nominations: Centenary to beat Tulsa—Iowa State to check Oklahoma—Duke to win from Make Forest—Auburn-Georgia Tech a toss up—Alabama to haudle Clemson—Temple to win from Carnegie Tech. Princeton to name her count against Lehigh—W. and L. Over Virginia—Williams to take Wesleyan—Rutgers to handle Lafayette. Also Texas is the pick over Baylor, Vanderbilt over Sewanee, Holy Cross over Manhattan, and N. Y. U. over C. C. N. Y.

Pacing Program Scheduled Friday, Saturday and Monday.

GRAND CIRCUIT

Grand circuit racing will return to Lakewood park this afternoon in the first of three days of fast pacing and trotting. The program will be continued on Saturday and will close with the Monday events. Today's races will start at 2 o'clock.

After an absence of several years, Atlanta's harness race fans will wel-come the return of high-class pacers and trotters with veteran drivers in the sulking

The admission prices will be 25 and 50 cents.

Starting in the east early in the spring, the racers have performed on all of the leading tracks of the country during the summer and arranged the Lakewood program as a grand finale to the racing in this section. BULLDOGS FACE TOUGH BATTLE AT NEW HAVEN

Blue Much Stronger This Year; Grant To Play Some.

By Jimmy Jones.

ON BOARD GEORGIA SPE-CIAL, EN ROUTE TO NEW HA-VEN. Nov. 8.—Yale's Bulldogs, who consider themselves a sort of "jinx" victim of the their southern cousins, are all cocked and primed to make this farewell-to-arms game with Geor-gia a Roman holiday up in the Bowl Saturday.

This is the word that reaches the Georgia party as it rolls eastward along the Seaboard tracks.

Herman Jerome Stegeman, the Georgia scout, was talking about the Yale anxiety regarding this year's encounter with the southern Bulldogs: "It seems that Ducky Pond, when he took over the job of head coach, promised that he would try and dosomething about the Georgia and Princeton jinxes," said Mr. Stegeman.

YALE ANXIOUS.

"Yale has been going along, beating Brown, Dartmouth, Harvard, etc., log staffs, but it has not had much luck against Georgia and Princeton. I learned from some people while I was in New Haven last Saturday that Pond and his staff would be in line for a nice raise if the Blue turns in a victory over Georgia and Princeton this season."

ODDS AGAINST GEORGIA.

Just what are Georgia's chances of taking the odd game of this 11-year relationship remains to be seen. Conch Mehre thinks the odds are against his team, mainly because he has had several of his veteran players, including Chapman, Grant, Moorehead and McCullough, fall victim to injury and one thing and another this year, whereas last season he took an experienced squad to New Haven, one which had won six straight, to play the Elis.

Some of the other cripples on the Georgia squad, including Paul Causey, the sophomore from Seville, Fla., who looked so good early in the year, have mended and will play. Mehre plans to start his first-string line and a mixed backfield with John Bond in there to do the kicking.

The Georgia squad, while not in what the British term ripping condition, is in better shape than it has been for the last three games. The Buildogs also are somewhat heartened by their 14-0 victory over Florida, after dropping three straight to North Carolina, Tulane (by one point) and Alabama's red juggernaut.

Incidentally, the Yale people were also very anxious for a victory over Army this year and almost got one. Since the score was only 20-12 and Army had to recover a couple of Yale fumbles in order to win.

This is the last game that will be played between Yale and Georgia for sometime, maybe four years. Several other eastern institutions have been clamoring for Georgia's place on the Yale schedule and chances are also, that some other intersectional game will replace the Athens Bulldogs on the New Haven Bulldogs' card.

BEATEN TEAMS TAKE SPOTLIGHT IN SOUTH

By Garnett D. Horner,

United Press Staff Correspondent. Football competition within the Southeastern conference this week is exclusively among the second division teams, with not a game involving championship aspirations on the program for the first time since September.

Tennessee and Vanderbilt, both eliminated from the title race by one defeat each at the hands of present leaders, are the strongest of the eight elevens taking part in conference hattles Saturday—and they meet ence battles Saturday-and they meet "pushover" opposition.

The Tennessee Volunteers, knocked off three weeks ago by Alabama's mighty Crimson Tide but still packing plenty of power, entertain Mississippi State. Vanderbilt, eliminated a week later by L. S. U., renews an old feud with the toothless Sewanee Tigers at Nashville.

Northwest Tigers

Play Athens Team

Atlanta's undefeated midget foot-ball team, the Northwest Tigers, will play Athens Juniors Saturday after-noon in Athens, in the fifth game of the season. The Tigers have not been defeated in the past two years and have won four games this season and tied one tied one.

The Tigers defeated the Athens Juniors, 13 to 6, two years ago and 6 to 0 last year, and hope to make it three straight Saturday.

The players making the trip include B. Waddell. Ellsberry, Burton, Smith, Rogers, T. Waddell, Cain, Soyar, Hancock, J. Cox. R. Cox. Bentley, Sailors Orr, Cranford and Barrett. Coach Ardell Nations will be in charge of the youngsters.

and and the Tigers' lifth Southeastern conference setto of the season with the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets at Grant field Saturday.

Auburn will arrive in Atlanta in time for a light workout at the scene of Saturday's scrap before partaking of the evening repast. Half of Friday's practice session, which will conday's practice session, which will consist mostly of dummy scrimmage and signal practice, probably will be beneath the giant arc lights at Grant

The Tigers' head mentor, Jack Mea-gher, who has been bringing his boys along nicely each week, thinks Au-burn's game with Tech will be one of the most interesting the two teams ever have played. So anxious will both teams be gunning for a victory that he expects the rival field generals to look into their bag of tricks and throw caution to the winds in displaying probably all of the tricky plays in their repertory.

Georgia has beaten Yale the last four games, or rather five times out of the last seven years played, since the Athens Bulldogs also won, 14-10, in 1927. Before that, they had played only one close game, in 1924, when J. D. Thomason, of Columbus, Ga., now one of the rising football officials of the south, scored Georgia's rought factics. Hackney stuck strictly to clean methods despite his foe's roughdown.

By FREDERICK GARDNER.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—Postelection demand for stocks slackened today and the market sold off a trifle
after a four-day advance.
Although many brokers and security analysts expressed helief in inflationary tendencies, traders were in no rush to expand their holdings of shares and commodities.
The upturn in the preceding session tempted profit-taking. As stocks eased after the opening, trading quieted and the turnover dwindled to 843,310 shares, compared with a 1,111,020 yesterday.
Commodities retreated with stocks, causing traders to mix a liberal amount of skepticism with the inflationary sentiment engendered by prophecies the democratic election sweep meant more heavy government spending. Wheat dropped back 1 1-8 to 1 3-4 cents a bushel. Losses in rye ranged up to 2 3-4 cents. Cotton dipped 30 to 40 cents a bale, the market paying little attention to Foreign exchange diverted attention from security markets in view of the French political crisis. The franc, however, firmed, indicating the market had anticipated developments, although it remained at levels permitting gold exports from Paris.

The inflationary pattern of the previous day's movements in financial markets was reversed as United States government bonds stiffened, high-grade corporate loans firmed and the dollar maintained its position against foreign exchanges. Franc Firms.

Trade news gave no indication that the recent modest seasonal expansion in business had run its course.

The Iron Age said the way had been cleared for further improvement in iron and steel demand and forecast a "steady and perhaps accelerating unward trend" in the industry the rest of the year. It estimated current output at 26 1-2 per cent of capacity. a gain of 1-2 of 1 percentage point. A further decline of $38,000,000 in loans to brokers by New York city banks for their own account made the total $576,000,000. Total security loans of New York city banks were $1.381,000,000, a net drop of $36,000,000 for the week.

Brokers' Views

FENNER & BEANE—The present price level of the merket appears to find its greatest measure of support in infiation possibilities rather than in underlying industrial trends on in investment demands.

BEER & CO.—We are inclined to view Thursday's seasion in the light of a natural reaction and believe a continuation of the recent unward trend will be seen.

COURTS & CO.—From all surface indications at least good buying should develop en further price concessions and the outlook continues hopeful.

ABBOTT, PROCTOR & PAINE—Trade news during Thursday was encouraging.

DOBBS & CO.—Unless there is more aggressive buying in the rail group the raily should perhaps not be expected to go a great deal further.

By BERNARD S. O'HARA NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—Specialties recorded further gains on the curb market exchange today. In the curb market exchange today. In the general list, however, profit-taking appeared and final quotations were irregular. Trading was at an active pace although below yesterday's total. The list edged forward at the opening but encountered difficulty at the higher levels. Settling back, prices backed and filled throughout the rest of the day.

Singer Manufacturing went to another new high for the year at 260.

Singer Manufacturing went to another new high for the year at 260, up some 10 points. Midvale, Schiff Company and Safety Car Heating got up around 2 or more each, while issues finishing about a point higher included Gulf Oil, Chicago Rivet & Machine, Great Atlantic & Pacific and Lerner Stores. and Lerner Stores.

Parker Rust Proof was a heavy spot dipping nearly 2. Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Hiram Walker, Electric Bond & Share and Creole Petroleum were slightly easier. Alusinus Communication of America August 1985 minum Company of America, American Cyanamid B, Lake Shore, Swift & Company, Wright Hargreaves and In-ternational Petroleum ended steady to a trifle improved. Transfers approximated 163,000 shares compared with 199,000 the day before.

NEW YORK. Nov. 8 .- (A)-The government report placing the indi-cated crop at 9,654,000 bales, had no appreciable effect on the cotton market today and the price movement was irregular. March contracts, after selling off from 12.34 to 12.27 during the morning, rallied to 12.35 but eased off again later, closing at 12.28. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 6 to 8 points.

12.28. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 6 to 8 points.

Following a steady opening, prices yielded slightly under southern and foreign selling in the later deliveries and showed net losses of about 5 to 8 points before business was suspended to receive the government report. When trading was resumed, active months sold off another few points under liquidation.

The market met increased trade buying or covering at this point, however, and there were rallies which carried prices up to 12.24 for December and 12.36 for May or back to about yesterday's closing quotations. The volume of business tapered off on the bulge, and prices sagged in the late trading under a little southern selling or scattering liquidation, closing within a point or two of the lowest for the day on most positions. Reports from Washington indicate that officials of the agricultural adjustment administration were considering the acreage curtailment program for next year, but that no final decision had been reached on the reduction to be asked for. There was much discussion of the probabilities in this direction but figures mentioned were evidently considered indefinite and traders appeared to be awaiting an official statement which is expected sometime this month. Exports today 31,712, making 1,530,-216 so far this season. Port receipts 24,885. United States port stocks 3, 151,715.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—(P)—
The cotton market was somewhat more active today owing to the fact that it was bureau day. Prior to the release of the government crop estimate, prices fluctuated narrowly and the main trading was evening up in advance of the bureau. After issuance of the estimate of 9,634,000 bales, which was somewhat larger than expected, prices eased off 3 to 5 points but soon rallied 7 to 10 points.

In the afternoon, however, the market eased off gradually and practically duplicated the earlier lows near the end. The close was steady with prices showing net declines for the day of 2 to 3 points.

Possibilities of wheat included that the United States from Argentina counted also as a bearish influence. It was contended that, whereas the incentive for yesterday's late bulge in wheat prices had been talk of inflation, the fact was that congress does not meet until January, and that as an immediate market force such talk seemed at least premature.

market may continue to be unsettled until the foreign political situation—particularly that in France—becomes more settled.

2—A fear that Wednesday's brilliant uprush was without sound backing.

3-Some worry over the next congress and whether the administration can prevent a plunge to further leftist

UNCERTAINTY.

The market today reflected this uncertainty. Prices had a little uprush at the opening in fairly active trading with considerable odd-lot business coming from the public. Trading quieted and prices drifted off, some on profit-taking, in later dealings with the close irregularly lower. Total volume was irregularly lower. Total volume was $40,000 shares against yesterday's 1,110,000 share day. Traders believed the market in the next few days may give its own answer to current un-certainty.

The French situation continued tense and worried many of the Wall Street operators during the day. This, however, resulted in no selling and what little casting off came into the market was from the profit-taking Meanwhile the industrial picture

Meanwhite the showed:
Railroad carloadings, to be reported tomorrow, are likely to show the first year-to-year gain since June. Despite this the rails were easy during today's trading.

STEEL OUTPUT UP. Steel production rose according to ron Age but there are still some ifficulties ahead for the steel indusry. Tomorrow the United States Steel corporation will issue its shipments eport for October and this is likely show a little improvement over eptember. is September. United States Steel was the active leader in the Tarket today, giving encouragement to the traders when this "blue chip" came back to its old position of power.

Electric power production declined, but less than seasonal proportions. Utilities eased today as result not only of the current situation in the various votes Tuesday for municipal power plants.

The building program continues to give promise. This is one of the "pets" of the administration and many believe considerable money will be moved into this field. F. W. Dodge Corporation reported hat home building in October showed 47.8 per cent gain over October, 1933, in the eastern states.

General Motors sales report issued today showed a good gain for October and gave a little more encouragement to the motor stocks, in asmuch as the final quarter ordinariality finds motor car sales dipping as buyers await the new models.

Now Rungula heard a voice speaking to him in his own language. "Look at me!" He turned his eyes toward the thing that held him. The light from the fires filtered through the foliage and revealed the features of a white man bending over him.

"I am not the god of death," Tarzan replied; "but I can bring death just as quickly, for I am greater than Walumbe." "What do you want?" asked Rungula. "I tested you to see if you were a good man. I made myself into two men. One you cap-

Tarzan moved his grim face closer to Rungula. "For that you should die!" he concluded. The jungle lord knew he must inspire the savage with utmost terror; but he wondered if the man's fearmaddened brain might not prompt him to shout for help to the warriors below!

ON SLIPPERY PAVEMENT.

To avoid skidding—have your brakes adjusted so that action on all four wheels will be balanced as perfectly as possible. Avoid locking the wheels. Intermittent application of the brakes is safer and more effective. On slippery roads it is safer to go slowly and use the brakes very little.

DAILY SHORT STORY-FLOATING LILIES

A Stolen Dress and a Wealthy Young Man Made Good Newspaper Copy, So Daphne's Job Was Saved. By FRANCES CARR WEBER.

Daphne had ever known.

"Yes," the breathless Daphne turned her whole attention on him. "I was going to wear it to the charity ball this evening. Mr. Gordon Tracy here was to be my escort."

Andre wished to see his Panile on the floor front. As she stealthily approached him, she noted his high excitement as he talked to the book-keeper. Then he saw her. With a shout he rushed toward her and Daphne raised her arms to the light of the setting sun, whose rays softly glowed from a flood lamp behind an artificial palm tree. Then to the rhythm of an unseen orchestra the rhythm of an unseen orchestra she waltzed smoothly across the little stage. Rapid flares of brilliance filled the salon as the newspaper photographers clustered about the rear door shot the exotic scene.

At last the curtains were slowly.

At last the curtains were slowly, softly drawn; the assembled society eaders sighed their rapture, and the salon echoed with applause.

When Miss Daphne reached her lressing room her heart was indeed ight. "The Pond Lily dress suits light. "The Pond Lily dress suits me perfectly," she thought with satisfaction. The applause had partially compensated for her recently embittered feelings. Daughter of the once affluent J. John Lane, now a victim of the depression, Daphne had been reduced to working for a living. She and the Pond Lily had been lent to the fashion show by Andre, her employer.

As Daphne stood admiring herself As Daphne stood admiring herself before the tall mirror, reluctant to take off the misty green dress, a page knocked at the door with "A message for Miss Daphne Lane."

Daphne quickly read the note, her eyes brightening with happiness when

Dear Miss Chatfield: Last summer I met a boy who is in college. He is having a hard time getting through. Do you think it would be safe for me

Answer: Safe only if you are prepared to lose the money and the friend, too. No surer way has ever been devised. To begin with, there is something radically wrong with a boy who will accept a loan from a girl friend unless he can give her collateral that will secure her. In Daphne whirled about the room in that case there are banks, money lenders and philanthropists to whom he would naturally go.

Solomon remarked once that the Solomon remarked once that the borrower was servant to the lender and this is a humiliating position for a man to be in with a girl-friend, so humiliating that he generally shies off from her. There are student loan funds to which the average youth may have access. There are all sorts of ways a serious student may help himways a serious student may help himways a serious stituent may help himself along through college and if he hasn't the energy and the industry to find them it is pretty good proof that he isn't as eager for an education as he pretends. I know of a boy who Daphne went suddenly cold. The cond Lily—a $300 dress, Andre's own reation, the sensation of the new creation, the sensation of the season. She gasped her story out to Gordon, and the young man was gravely sympathetic. Daphne looked around in despair, and suddenly sighted a policeman on the corner, talking to a young man.

Madly she ran to the officer and excitedly asked if he had seen any one take a box from the big roadster? He shook his head, and asked for a more explicit explanation.

The policeman's young companion The policeman's young companion when it was all gone.

The Sims team was declared qualified, and drawn for position in to-fied, and drawn for position in to-fied the properties of the season.

I know of the season. She gasped her story out to dear any soung the pretends. I know of a power and bouse table for his meals, and does and does coaching jobs on the side in order to have cash for necessities. College to have cash more explicit explanation.

The policeman's young companion produced a notebook and jotted down her story. "I'm from the morning paper," he told her. "You say the dress was modeled at the fashion show this afterneon?"

There is some insidious influence in the passing of money between young people who are in love with each other. Somehow it takes the bloom off of romance and when there is doubt about their being in love it is all the more hazardous.

Let the young man work out his own financial difficulties. He will be better off for the effort character-wise and you will be better off mon-

The reporter's eyes widened a trifle.
"Not the Mr. Gordon Tracy?" he asked, "the son of the—"
"Yes, yes," Gordon broke in brusquely.
"And what is the young lady's name," the reporter turned politely to Daphne. Gordon thought rapidly. "I would prefer that you didn't print her name, please," he said.
The young man listened closely, jotted notes, thanked them both, and hurried for the nearest phone booth. Mr. Tracy took the crestfallen CAROLINE CHATFIELD. Dear Miss Chatfield: I need help. Here is the whole true story: In the late thirties I am married and have two children. I am in love with a woman 10 years younger than I. She also is married and has two children. We are concerned for the fate of our children, as neither of us wants to Mr. Tracy took the crestfallen Daphne home, his one regret being that she absolutely refused now to atput any stain on their lives. We have tend the dance.

Next morning Daphne fairly crept into the dress salon. She had been too despondent even to buy a paper, and for an hour she made herself as mouselike as possible about the shop, seeking to postpone the inevitable scene with Andre.

At last the dread summons came. Andre wished to see Miss Daphne on the floor front. As she stealthily aptried to stay away from each other but we have failed. Can you suggest a plan by which we can find happi-

ess together, for we cannot find it separately.

Answer: The sort of happiness you are looking for is not to be found. You are chasing a will-o-the-wisp. That will-o-the-wisp will the wisp. That will-o-the wisp will continue to keep well ahead of you though you lose your breath run-ning after it or sit still and woo it with soft words. A man and a wom-an and four little children stand between you and the thing you fancy necessary to your happiness. You can drag along indefinitely as you are now doing, hoping for a break and looking in every direction for help to come, but its won't come. You can trump up excuses that the court may countenance and get a couple of divorces. Or you may listen to the voice of decency and get a couple of divorces. Or you may listen to the voice of decency and duty and rededicate your life to your lawful wife and your innocent little children. In the latter course you will find satisfaction that is first cousin to happiness, peace of mind and clean conscience and ability to look your little ones straight in the eye. However, you won't find that romantic excitement that you are now experiencing for another man's wife.

"But it has been store, started to protest.

"Ah, yes, that is good. Do not explain. We will order 100 of Poud Lily. Already this morning I have sold 20!"

Drastic measures will be necessary if you are to follow this course, for the primal forces you are dealing with are not easily subdued. They somewhat the sold 20!"

The Constitution.) Tomorrow: "Showdown," by Harold Kerr, is a clever account of how a young husband secured the money to pay his bills when his wife insisted he ask his austere old boss for a raise.

The demands they make override the dictates of duty. Separation by distance is the only thing that will enable a man and a woman to come to their senses when they are drawn to each other by this sort of physical attraction. It may be necessary for you traction. It may be necessary for you to move away from the town where you are now living, but whatever is necessary to separate you from the other man's wife you will never regret that you followed that course.

NEW YORK. Nov. 8.—(P)—Belated discovery of an error in arithmetic in the keeping of scores tonight caused elimination of the P. Hall Sims-Harold S. Vanderbilt combination from the competition for the trophy vanderbilt offers for bridge teams of four.

An obscure Brooklyn team found an error which put it back in the running and dropped the famous Sims unit into the classification of those that failed to qualify.

Sims. winner of 20 national bridge titles, including the Vanderbilt cup on two previous occasions, Vanderbilt, ean Mattheys, Waldemar von Sedtwitz, all former winners of the trophy, and Walter Beinecke were not disposed to accept the elimination without a formal protest.

The bulky Sims was celebrating his 50th birthday anniversary when informed of the mistake.

"Swell birthday," he said as he started a personal recheck of the scores. The incident served to recement the recently disrupted friendship of Oswald Jacoby and Sims, former bridge teammates.

morth and south.

"It has recently been pointed out that one great labor organization collects $23,000,000 in dues and accounts for only $3,000,000, having the use of $20,000,000 without responsibility.

"Secretary Roper's statement that both employers and employes should be held to equally strict accountability to the public apparently is directed toward agreements made between management and labor. The principle expressed applies just as fairly to proper financial accounting. It is to be hoped that congress will enact this principle into law at the forthcoming session."

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Russell T.
Fisher, secretary of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, today hailed the pronouncement of Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce, that labor as well as capital should be held accountable to the public for actions and policies as "one of the most important and significant statements to come from one of the administration in Washington."

"It is hardly possible to overestimate the importance of this official opinion at this period in industrial relations," said Fisher. "That the right to work is as fundamental as the right to strike has just been affirmed in a platform of principles of industrial relations adopted by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers and the American Cotton Manufacturers Association, represent from friends that he enter the race, and that inasmuch as he helped to organize Judge Howard's court in 1923 and had been associated with him in his court for three consecutive years as prosecutor, he will probably offer.
